Janesville Electrical Workers Strike

NEW WORLD WAR FORECAST

MORE THAN SCORE QUIT, CHIEFS SAY

LINEMEN ASK 65c HOUR, WITH TIME AND HALF FOR OVERTIME.

THREE CONCERNS ARE AFFECTED

D. J. Marcus, Manager of One Company, Belittles the Walkout.

More than a score of electrical workers in Janesville are on a strike today, leaders said at noon.

They demand recognition of the union and a slight increase in wages, it is said.

The linemen are asking for 65 cents an hour with time and a half for overtime instead of the monthly pay they are now getting.

The firms affected are the Janesville Electric Company, the Janesville Contracting company, and the P. A. Albrecht Electrical Shop. The American Electric Co., having recognized the union is not hit by the strike.

Only 10 out, Marcus Says

While strike leaders say 25 men are out today, D. J. Marcus, manager of the Janesville Contracting Company stated that only 10 men had walked out. None of the engineers have struck.

The men have made no specific demands," said Mr. Marcus. "I think the size of the thing is that they ask recognition of the union. I believe they are all satisfied with wages and working conditions."

Striking Several Weeks

The strike, which has been brewing for several weeks since the organization of the electrical workers' union here two months ago, came to a head this morning when the workmen handed in their keys and equipment and walked out.

A man bearing the name of Satterly, a national electrical union representative, has been in the city for several days and it is said he is partially responsible for the walk-out.

There was no disorder when they quit their jobs. They merely refused to work, but quietly.

CHICAGO MAN SPEAKS BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

M. D. Hardin, Chicago, talked to the Rotary club today on some of the big achievements of America in the war, as he saw them in France. He said of the building of three ports of entry and the construction of docks, railroads, warehouses, refrigeration plants, hospitals, all by Americans and with American money from which the fifth loan is to help defray.

He said that America transported a greater army in one year across the water, 3,000 miles than England did during her first year across 30 miles of water. He paid a high tribute to the French people in their fortitude and loyalty to their national ideals.

Dr. Hardin was in France, connected with the Red Cross work. J. A. Craig was leader of the meeting.

COMPLETE ANARCHY REPORTED IN MUNICH

London, April 16.—Complete anarchy reigns in Munich, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. All work has ceased, trains are not running and robbers are looting houses and threatening the banks, the dispatch states. The first infantry regiment is said to have joined the Spartacists.

BRAVE AMERICANS

Portraits of Medal Winners, Made at the Front by Official Portrait Painter of the A. E. F., JOSEPH CUMMINGS CHASE.

Sgt. GRADY PARRISH, of Alabama, Co. G, 167th Inf., 42d Division. He has no complaints. Sergeant Parrish was lucky, so he says. He went through and won the coveted blue ribbon, with its beautiful cross of gold, was badly wounded, and lived to keep on smiling. After his platoon commander had been severely wounded and his unit had suffered heavy casualties in action on Cote-de-Chaillon, October 16, 1918, Sergeant Parrish quickly reorganized the remainder of the platoon, and instead of retiring for reinforcements, led the remainder of his platoon in the attack on Cote-de-Chaillon. The enemy was making a counter-attack on his front and the moment was a critical one. That's why the boy kept on going ahead. By his daring, coolness and good judgment he broke up the heavy enemy counter-attack, proving his ability as a leader and setting an example of exceptional heroism and devotion to duty. #### WOMEN ASK BOARD FOR COUNTY MOTHER

"You gentlemen furnish experts for the favoring cattle, experts to tell him how to raise his swine, and a learned gentleman to show him how to eliminate the scrub, now won't you furnish a nurse to show and tell Rock county women how to rear thoroughbred, healthy and strong children."

Mrs. O. C. Colony of Evansville, asked the county board of supervisors this afternoon. She spoke for a county nurse and represented the desires of members of the Chamber of Commerce of Evansville, the Beloit Federation of Women, Eight Women's organizations of Janesville, the Culture club, the Marquette society, the Federated Women of Edgerton, the Women's club of Evansville, the Study club of Oxfordville, and many other prominent citizens who have either passed resolutions asking for a county nurse or voted unanimously to endorse the engagement of a county nurse by the board of supervisors.

Mrs. Colony was accompanied by Mrs. Walter Green, also of Evansville. The speaker told the board of the organization of child welfare organized by the Women's Committee of the County Council of Defense which conducted an examination of children under six years of age and made a survey of health conditions in the county.

She said the examination showed that forty-seven per cent of the children measured under weight and that a large per cent of school children suffer from malnutrition, diseased tonsils, decayed teeth, etc., which retard proper growth and which would be easily remedied if presented properly to parents.

Much of the present ailment of children would be prevented by proper sanitary conditions and health habits," Mrs. Colony said, and she continued, "General conditions following a great war—such as the high cost of living and the prevalence of epidemics of disease further threaten the welfare of children. The recent influenza scourge has increased the proper administration of mothers' persons and problems of poverty, dependency and delinquency."

In closing Mrs. Colony earnestly asked the supervisors to ratify the organization of a county committee of health whose duty shall be to supervise public health work in the county and to engage a competent public health nurse in accordance with state law which lists the duties as follows:

To act as a consulting expert on hygiene for all schools not already having medical inspection either by physician or visiting nurse, to assist the superintendents of the poor in their care of the poor in the county who are in need of her services; to give instruction to tuberculosis patients and others relative to hygienic measures to be observed in preventing the spread of tuberculosis; to aid in making a report of existing cases of tuberculosis; to act as visiting nurse throughout the county and to perform such other duties as a nurse and hygienic expert as may be assigned to her by the county board.

The board this afternoon was ready to hear a big delegation of farmers who were ready to make a strong appeal for the retention of the county agriculture agent. R. E. Acheson of Evansville has been the county agent for the past year and the result of the vast amount of work accomplished in his short period in office has brought out a lot of opposition against discontinuing the office.

Before the board went in session this afternoon it could not be determined whether or not the county agent would be retained though several indications pointed towards a determined fight for an agricultural expert should any opposition show itself.

WRITER SETS JUNE, 1926, FOR CONFLICT

PROPHET CERTAIN GREAT STRUGGLE IS TO BE RENEWED.

FORECAST DATE OF WAR IN 1914

Another Big Allied Victory is Seen By "Sephariel" in Article.

London, April 16.—There will be another world war beginning in June, 1926, according to a writer in the British Journal of Astrology.

This prophet who signs himself "Sephariel," asks for a serious hearing, inasmuch as he claims to have published a year in advance in each case the exact date of the war of 1914 and of the cessation of hostilities.

"The first phase of the next war," he writes, "will begin with Turkey whose perfidy will lead to its final overthrow in 1921-1922. This time Russian intrigue will dominate the position in the near east, affecting Greece and Turkey and Russia. But according to my calculations, the great crisis will not be reached until June 1926."

"In this great war, which may be regarded as Prussia's counter to the war of 1914-18, the malevolent forces take their rise in Vienna and Berlin, penetrate through the whole of Russia and descend via the Black Sea and Turkey in Asia, on to Syria and Palestine."

Another allied victory is predicted by "Sephariel."

TROOPS' VOTE KEEPS NEW ZEALAND WET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

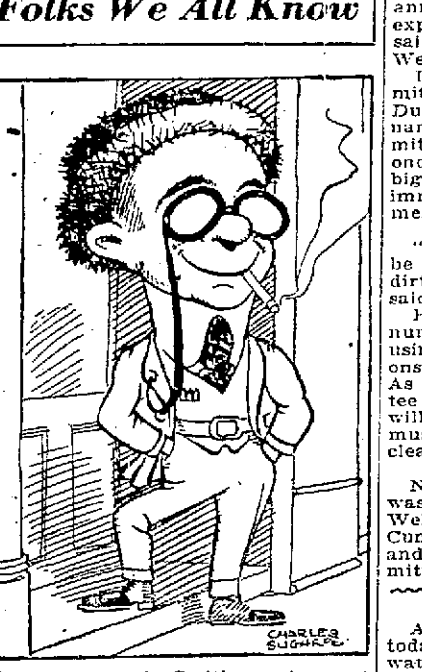

London, April 16.—The vote of New Zealand soldiers has wiped out the majority for prohibition which was rolled up in that commonwealth on April 11, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Christ church.

In the New Zealand election the prohibition party claimed a majority of more than 32,000 votes. It was announced at that time that the ballots cast by 40,000 soldiers had not been counted. An indication of the trend of the soldiers vote was given however, when New Zealand soldiers in England voted the anti-prohibition forces having 15,880 votes out of approximately 20,000.

70 SCHOOLS REPORT W. S. S. ORGANIZATIONS

More than 70 schools in the county had up to noon reported on the organization of War Savings societies, which were formed yesterday simultaneously throughout the county. Thirty of the 70 reports were from county schools.

Miss Catherine du Pont.

Miss Catherine du Pont is a charming and beautiful young artist who is being entertained by notable Washington families, under whose patronage her exhibition of the famous and little known Noh dances of Japan will be given. Miss du Pont is the first Occidental to bring to this country the ancient ceremonial dances of the Sanur and she is to make her debut here in the near future.

NEW CITY COUNCIL HAS MANY PLANS IN VIEW

Predictions, prospects and visions of big work ahead loomed large on the horizon for Janesville's new council at its initial meeting last night and throughout the session an air of general enthusiasm and cooperation prevailed.

There was a good sized gallery to witness Mayor Thomas E. Welsh wield the gavel for the first time.

Sandwiched in with the routine of the opening session were several matters elaborated upon and from the trend of feeling of the councilmen were indications that the present body has a big program at the present, literally, "up its sleeve."

Mayor Welsh took his chair with the brief announcement that "Actions speak louder than words" and the meeting was on.

Two large floral tributes were on the mayor's desk. One was sent away of Easter lilies and American Beauty roses was from a long host of admirers. The second was from George Clark.

Alderman J. J. Dullin of the Fifth ward, the oldest member of the body in point of years of municipal service, was selected as president of the council. Mr. Dullin gave a short address and in asking for the heartiest cooperation of his colleagues announced that such readily secures greater efforts and results for the city at large. He was enthusiastic for Janesville's future, warned that the work of the body would be closely watched and announced that his big work would be expected from it. Therefore, he said, "It behooves us to make good. We will do our best for Janesville."

Later, when the new standing committee were announced and Ald. Dullin found himself to have been named chairman of the Highway committee he took occasion to make a second address. This proved to be the big feature of the evening in that it immediately found backing from every member of the council.

General Clean Up.

"Streets and street conditions" may be termed his subject. Rotten and dirty conditions exist, the alderman said.

He took occasion to mention a number of property owners who are using the streets for storage of wagons, machinery and every whatnot. As chairman of the highway committee he announced that such practice will stop and further, that city alleys must undergo an early and thorough cleaning.

Street Meet Friday.

Nothing regarding a street program was touched upon aside from Mayor Welsh's requesting City Attorney Cunningham, City Engineer Kerch and the Finance and Highway committees to meet with him on Friday.

WATER TAX COLLECTIONS.

Although totals were not available today, it was expected at the city water office this morning that water tax arrears would be less than one thousand dollars for the first quarter of 1919. Yesterday and last night was a big day for collections.

PREMIER WARNS OF NEW MENACE

PLEADS "LET ALONE THOSE WHO ARE TRYING TO DO THEIR BEST."

GRAVE PROBLEMS STILL ARE FACED

British Executive Declares For "Hands Off" Policy For Bolsheviks.

(By Associated Press.)

London, April 16.—The allied representatives in Paris have arrived at a complete understanding on the great fundamental questions that would effect peace with Germany, Premier Lloyd-George declared in addressing the house of commons today. The allies had formulated their demands and he hoped that by the end of next week they would be presented.

London, April 16.—Replying in the house of commons today to criticisms of his activities at the peace conference in Paris, Premier Lloyd-George said the situation was "still full of perils for all countries." He pleaded that "those who are trying to do their best be let alone."

No conference in history, said the premier, had been faced with problems of such variety, complexity, magnitude and gravity.

The congress of Vienna, which was the nearest approach to it, took eleven months for its work, but that congress, Mr. Lloyd-George pointed out, sank into insignificance as compared with what had been settled by this conference.

New States Born.

After referring to the world-wide extent of the war, the premier said that new states had sprung into existence, some of them independent, some semi-independent, and some that might be protectorates, and although their boundaries might not be defined some indication of them must be given.

The time spent by the peace conference in framing the league of nations plan saved time instead of wasting it, Mr. Lloyd-George declared, as the league would provide a means of adjustment of possible errors.

Hands Off Russia.

"I would rather leave Russian bolsheviks alone until they see their way out of it, rather than see Great Britain landed in bankruptcy," was one of the premier's declarations.

"It is not true that the United States and Europe have been at variance," the premier declared. He deprecated attempts to sow dissensions among the delegates.

In answer to a question from John R. Clynes, a labor leader, whether approaches for peace had come from the Russian government, the premier replied:

"We have had no approaches of any sort or kind. None have been put before the conference."

Mr. Lloyd-George said that it was his earnest conviction that military intervention in Russia would be the greatest act of stupidity.

Bolshevism is Waning.

The premier said reliable information showed that while the bolshevik force was apparently growing, bolshevism itself was gradually waning—breaking down before the relentless force of economic facts.

In reference to his league of nations deliberations, Mr. Lloyd-George said the conference might have taken more time but for the fact that it was setting up a machinery capable of readjusting and correcting possible mistakes.

"And that is why the league of nations instead of wasting time, saved time," he added.

The conference had to shorten its labors, continued the premier, because, while it was trying to build, in many lands the foundation of society (Continued on Page 5.)

PEACE LEAGUE DEBATE PROPOSED IN STATE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, April 16.—A plan to give the United States senate the views of the legislatures of the different states on the league of nations' plan is proposed by Lieut. Gov. E. G. Dittman, Baraboo.
"The ideal way would be to let the people of each state vote on the league of nations' plan," declared Mr. Dittman. "Since that plan cannot be carried out, the next best method would be to have the legislatures in session take the question up. I think that when the league plan is fully considered, the question should be debated by competent men on both sides of the question before the legislature. Then the members should discuss the matter among themselves and pass a resolution that would embody their ideas. It is probable that Wisconsin may work out the plan. United States Senator I. L. Lenroot has already appeared before the legislature on the subject in opposition to the plan as originally suggested."

LOW SALARY MENACE TO EDUCATION SAYS SUPERINTENDENT CARY

Madison, April 16.—Low salaries and short tenure of hire have for many years been driving men out of the teaching profession according to State Superintendent C. P. Cary in an address before the educational department of the Madison Women's club Wednesday afternoon. He declared there was also a "political menace in Wisconsin" that has nearly disrupted the educational system of the state.
"There is also an effort to make education as materialistic as possible; in other words, to make it serve the interests of a narrow, cramping, money-making way," he said. "The most serious menace in my opinion is that of low salaries for teachers and the lack of appreciation on the part of society for the work of the teacher. What does a year's teaching bring the average teacher? In the country districts of Wisconsin today it is less than $500; in the grades in the cities of Wisconsin it is less than $650, and in the high schools of Wisconsin it is about $900."

"Through low salaries and short tenure we have for years been driving men out of the teaching profession," he said. "What has happened in the case of men is happening today in the case of women. Few women enter upon teaching with any thought of remaining long at the business."

"The protection of the best interests of society and our future progress in civilization demands that we shall right about face on this question of salaries and tenure of position for school people."

"Assuming for the moment that it is worth $10 a day, as we are told, for a child to be in school, the teacher who has 40 pupils for a single day renders a service that is to be measured in hundreds of dollars and yet she receives for it only from $3 to $5. If it were a business enterprise, in which the product could be sold for cash, under such circumstances a teacher might command $20 or $300 a day."

GOVERNOR VETOES HANSON BILL ON RECALL OF OFFICIALS

Madison, April 16.—Gov. E. L. Philipp today vetoed the C. E. Hanson bill providing for recall by the legislature of appointive state officials. He declares that such a bill exposes the entire administrative force to political influence.
"If I were in accord with its provisions I would not approve of it because of the conditions that have been prescribed for me by certain senators," says Governor Philipp. "It has been openly stated upon the floor of the senate that if I would approve this bill my appointment of Carl D. Jackson as railroad commissioner would be confirmed. I beg to state to the senators who have alleged this that the condition upon which I submitted the appointment of Mr. Jackson for confirmation because I know him to be an efficient officer who has rendered faithful service to the state and that he is, therefore, entitled to confirmation."

In opening his argument on the policy of the C. E. Hanson bill, Governor Philipp says that in investigating political and administrative commissions it has been a matter of deep concern to the legislature and the people that they be placed out of the reach of political influence.
"The bill in question may accomplish indirectly what the legislature and the people sought to avoid at the time that the railroad commission was created," says Governor Philipp. "It is within the power of the legislature to remove any member of that commission at will without proving unfitness for the office, we will then have provided a method by which private interests which may have a grievance against a commissioner because he has refused to yield to their demands may bring about his removal by entering the legislative campaign."

The governor declares that the legislative recall is a departure from the form of government established by the constitution. He says that he has reason to believe that the bill is unconstitutional.
An effort will be made at a later date to pass the bill over the veto of the executive. When the bill was read in the lower house today, where it is probable that Wisconsin may work out the plan, United States Senator I. L. Lenroot has already appeared before the legislature on the subject in opposition to the plan as originally suggested.

First Rest in 47 Years.

VICTORY LOAN SIDELIGHTS

As the time draws near for the active subscription to the Victory loan it is noticeable that the disposition toward it becomes more favorable. Those who felt that it was not a duty to buy it are fast becoming reconciled to the fact that it must be taken up. It comes at a time when most people are very busy and consequently many are disinclined to assist in taking the subscription, but this attitude is also being rapidly abandoned.
It must be remembered that the war was a most inopportune undertaking for the soldiers. They had to give up their homes and undergo the hardships of training and ultimately service in a foreign country. The civilian obligations have a great deal to be said for them, but by comparison they have been made light.
We glory in the record made by our army and navy. We are thrilled with the story of their deeds and they have written another splendid chapter in American history. There were no slackers among these men. If we expect to be a part of this glorious achievement, we must do our duty. There can be no slackers at home. Janesville has an enviable record for supporting the war in all its phases. We should be jealous of this record. We should be jealous to sustain it. No demand has been made upon this city that remains unfulfilled.
Are we going to slump from this point position? Are we going to refuse the last duty and thus spoil it all? It is plain that every loyal citizen must not only subscribe his full share to this issue, but must do all that he can to support this campaign. We should not use the word sacrifice in the matter of making a subscription to this loan, but rather rest it upon the ground of public duty. Sacrifice and duty do not always carry the same meaning. Let the call of duty find you ready.
Remember this is the last loan.

COMPROMISE SOLDIER PAY BILL TO RESULT

(By FRID L. HOLMES.)
Madison, April 16.—A compromise bill for granting of aid to honorably discharged Wisconsin soldiers will be worked out as the result of the hearing before the joint finance committee of the legislature today afternoon. Three bills were under consideration. The Cunningham bill provides three months' pay; the Pullen bill would give them $10 a month for each month in the service and the third bill would provide for a while taking an educational course in the higher institutions of learning in Wisconsin.
It developed at the hearing, and was suggested by Senator Ray J. Nye, that a combination bill should be worked out or that the Pullen bill should carry an optional clause to the effect that a man who chose one form of aid should not be entitled to other forms.
Senator Nye told the committee his plan might cost $500,000 a year.

MAY 15 IS LAST DAY
FOR FILING RETURNS

Organizations and individuals generally are advised by Collector of Internal Revenue William to underwrite in their calendars May 15, the last day for the filing of returns of information, giving the names and addresses of all individuals to whom payments of salaries, wages, rents, profits and income of $1,000 or more were paid during the year 1918. An extension of time from March 15 to May 15 was granted by the commissioner of internal revenue for the filing of these returns.

"All employers of labor, whether in large or small numbers, are required to make these returns," said Collector Williams. "Organizations, such as corporations, companies, partnerships and etc., are required to file returns showing the salaries and wages paid to the officers and employees."

A separate return for each employee whose salary for 1918 was $1,000 or more is required. Banks, trust companies, and similar institutions must make returns of information showing interest paid to, or credited to the account of, an individual if the amount so credited or paid was $1,000 or more.

Real estate agents are required to report the gross amounts received in rents or other income and remitted to their principals if such amounts for 1918 were $1,000 or more. The bill provides that whenever necessary the name and address of the recipient of the income shall be furnished by the person, corporation or partnership paying the same.

Returns of information must be accompanied by a letter of transmittal on Form 1056 showing under oath the aggregate amount of the payments. These forms also may be obtained from collectors.

The penalty for failure to make a return on time is a fine of not more than $1,000.

MISSIONS IN INDIA

The special exercises for Holy week at the Methodist church opened last evening with an illustrated lecture given by Dr. James Milburn Taylor, New York City. Dr. Taylor chose as his subject for the evening, one of the many mission fields which he has visited during the past few years, that of India. He spoke of the land as a country of contrasts.

He spoke of the extreme wealth and of poverty and degradation, of perpetual snow in some sections and of great heat in others. Sixty-five millions of these people, he said, now had enough to eat, and not 2 billions of dollars was invested in its temples, and in the jewels which adorned them.

"They were the most religious people of the world," he said, having about 60 millions of Mohammedans, and 220 millions of Hindus, besides 10 millions of Buddhists and many other religious orders. Only about 4 million Christians are in the country. He showed pictures of temples, schools, colleges, and churches together with many scenes he had glimpsed along the roadside.

He made a plea for help and co-operation from the people of the churches in the task of bringing the light of Christianity to these people, and for young people who would dedicate their lives to this cause. Services will be held every evening except Saturday at this church during this week.

Fair Distribution of U. S.
Flour in Berlin Ordered

Berlin, April 16.—The Berlin magistracy is taking unusual precautions to ensure a mathematically exact distribution of American flour brought to this city. It has appointed officials who will visit stores and control sales and dealers are requested to co-operate with them. One dealer has already been convicted of violating regulations and has been debarred from making further sales.

Electrically Lighted Hen
Coops "N. G." Says Farmer

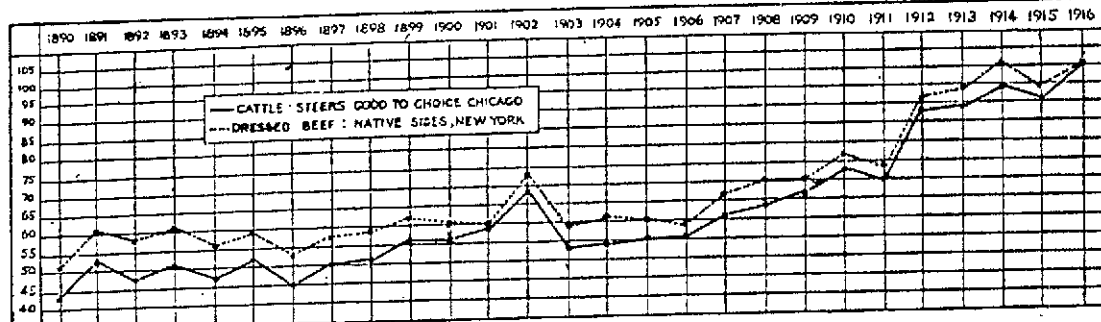

Suffield, Conn., April 16.—John Merrill, a retired farmer and chicken fancier here, thinks the modern scheme of providing electrically lighted coops in winter evenings for the hens to make them lay is all "bosh." He has compared egg records made by the electrical method with the record of his own hens which are well cared for without extending their winter day of work, and declares that his hens are laying more eggs than some of the flocks he has read of which were treated in the new way.

Why Beefsteak Is High

This chart was copied from Bulletin No. 226, U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. It is the latest that has been issued. 100=1916 price.

Remember when beefsteak was 20c a pound?

Now it's 40 and 50 cents a pound.

Why?

This chart shows that the price packers have had to pay for cattle has gone up with the price received for beef.

In fact, it shows that the "spread" between cattle and beef prices has been gradually reduced during the past 30 years—owing to competition among packers, their increased efficiency, bigger volume, and elimination of waste.

The packer's profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat has helped to narrow this "spread."

Increased farm-production costs have made higher cattle prices necessary.

AMERICAN KNIGHTS

The knights of American generals by the British indicates that there is a difference of interpretation of the term "Democracy."

It appears that the English must make a class distinction when they pay any honor. Perhaps this can be expected because of the centuries of training they have had where worship of royalty has become second nature.

In choosing those upon whom she wished to confer honors, she took generals—not the boys who slept in the mud and fought Hun and cooties —but the generals, the "big guns" of the army. Just imagine a common United States soldier who perhaps had saved several British Tommies through his wonderful courage and ability to endure hardship, being knighthood! Preposterous. But a general who lived in comfortable quarters and who is considered a king higher on the army social scale than that of a knight, England could afford to knight.

The French do not see it that way.
They have honored thousands of American boys who have deserved their decorations. The French have not singled out generals and colonels because of their rank. Not they.
They have sized up the deed and then looked at the man—right in the eye, too!

THE RETIRING MAYOR

Charles L. Valentine, who for years has served in public capacities in the state, county and city, has rounded out with full measure a useful career, at his retirement as mayor of Janesville.

During his tenure of office Mr. Valentine has seen the necessity for changing from the old plan of conventions to a new one made useful because of the city's prospects for industrial development.

Mr. Valentine has been quick to see the advantages of making immediate preparations for a greater population;
he has advocated those initial steps which the city must take to avoid a delay in industrial growth.

Janesville was fortunate in having at such a time an executive with vision and at the same time a man with good judgment and sane ideas.

The citizens of Janesville will unite in thanking Mr. Valentine for the careful administration of the city's affairs at a time when harmony was needed.

Mr. Welsh, the new mayor, had declared his intention of pursuing methods which will keep the city in the foreground, and members of the council who were re-elected have shown their desire to keep pace with the development which has started.

The two new members—Mr. Hilt and Mr. Kelly—will no doubt lend their aid to the council's share in providing the necessary administration of the city's affairs so we will not have to take a backward step.

The announcement that C. R. Bear-more, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., for three and a half years, has resigned, brings gloom to those interested in association affairs. Mr. Bearmore, through administration of affairs here, has proven himself an asset to the community.

He is one of those fellows who is "Full of Pep" from the time he gets on the job in the morning until relinquished at night. He has made the "Y" a vital force in the community.
He has increased the membership almost three times its size when he took hold. He has won the esteem of all of those with whom he has come in contact, and it is with reluctance that Janesville bids him good-bye.
Mr. Bearmore's efforts have been rewarded; that is why he is leaving us.
His stay here was in preparation for a bigger job. He will have supervision over a number of railroad centers in Chicago. Janesville citizens join in sending Mr. Bearmore to his new position backed by their best wishes for his success.

SCHOOL SAVERS.
The effort to organize a War Savings society in every school in Rock county should be given encouragement. Not only would the government be benefited through the use of money saved by children, but much more important are the lessons of thrift which will be learned.

The children of the United States have played a wonderful part in their organized efforts to give to Uncle Sams, their pennies, their nickels, their dimes, and their quarters. They have learned one of the first lessons of patriotism—unselfishness. They have learned to give freely so that others may have happiness and comforts.
Although at the time they did not know they would ever receive benefit through their acts, they in the end will be the real beneficiaries, for they will have learned that thrift is one of the most essential stepping stones to peace and happiness.

Great Britain is a busy little spot these days, and it all comes through the scrappy attitudes of her offspring.
Serious riots are reported in India.
Factories and stores in Ireland are closed by strikes. Unrest is reported in Egypt.

If you believe that clean baseball gum is a recreational proposition for the benefit of those who enjoyed witnessing the sport, should be encouraged in Janesville, go out to the fair grounds Sunday, and let the fellows who have worked hard for more than two weeks to get a team together, know of your enthusiasm.

The weather man is going to lose a lot of friends unless he mends his ways. Here we are in the midst of one of the most prosperous periods in history. Easter only three days away, a new spring suit ready to dazzle the eye laid out for next Sunday—and then prospects of weather like this.
Can you beat it?

The Catholic church, through the death of Reverend Frank J. Sheridan, has lost one of its promising young priests. Reverend Sheridan was a man of fine character. And although ordained in the priesthood but two years ago, he had already made his impression on those to whom he ministered.

President W. C. Durant's annual report to the stockholders of the General Motors Corporation is of significant interest to us. The payrolls for last year aggregated $52,500,000.
This year Janesville will have a share in that payroll.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

POSTPONING IT.

For several days
We have been thinking
Of having the flu.
Every morning when
We have got up, we have
Had all the symptoms that Accompany that polite ailment.
Everybody in our block has had it.
Except us, and it didn't seem right.
We have also had all the symptoms
Of several other ailments.
But picked on the flu.
As being the most modish, as it were.
There is no use being Old-fashioned when you can have Something strictly modern.
For the same money.
This morning we decided to have it
And not put it off any longer.
But Victor Moore, the actor,
Called up and had to see us
Right away down town.
We told him we had the flu.
But it didn't make any difference.
So we had to put it off again.
But we kept it in mind.
And when anybody asked us,
"What are you going to have?"
We replied: "We are going to Have the flu."
Every morning last week we had
To go to work and couldn't have it.
And summer will soon be here.

THE Y AND THE U.
Dear Roy—It appears to me an ugly habit that some printers have of printing a v for a u. It has proven unacceptable to newspapers and magazines, but the use of it in architectural books seems to vanderline.
People who uphold the vses or rather the misuses of the letter have no just reason for their approval of it. It is useless for me to say anything, but why can't you make a little noise about it?

CHILDREN BECOME KNIGHTS AND SQUIRES

The tournaments in health knighthood in the field of the Cloth of Gold, in which the Rock county schools are contesting for pins, pen-nants and the trophies of victory are drawing to a close. The tournaments opened Feb. 9 all over the country, for 15 and 10 week periods. Reports from the Rock county schools are coming in slowly at the office of O. D.
Antisdel, county superintendent.

A large box of squire and knight pins are awaiting distribution to the crusaders as soon as reports are received. The pins cost 1 cent for those of the knight and 1 and one-half cent for those of the squire. The schools are asked to send money to cover this expense. Otherwise the pins will have to be paid for by the Red Cross junior funds.

The Wisconsin tournament is being held in connection with the Anti-Tuberculosis association, with the cooperation of the Central division of the Red Cross. A state pennant will be awarded to the winners of the nine tournament divisions.

This modern health crusade is a competition in winning knightly rank, in becoming pages, squires, knights, and knight banners. The tournament help to keep the children strong and skilled for warfare against the diseases that attack them and their fellows.

In the record for health chores most is given for washing hands before all meals, washing ears, face, neck, cleaning finger nails, keeping fingers, pencils, and everything unclean out of mouth and nose, drinking water before meals and bed, no tea, coffee, etc., brushing teeth in morning and evening, ten slow deep breaths of fresh air, more than 30 minute's play out of doors or with windows open, 10 hours or more in bed, windows open, sitting and standing erect, regular attention to every bodily need, keeping neat and cheerful, helpful to others, and full baths at regular intervals.

MRS. STORY DIES IN EVANSVILLE; AGED 90

(By Special Correspondent)
Evansville, April 16.—Mrs. Josephine Story died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Fisher.
She was in her ninetieth year. Mrs.
Story was born in Batavia, New York, in 1829. She came west as a child and has lived practically all her life in the township of Oregon and in Evansville.

Her husband died 12 years ago.
Mrs. Story is survived by four children: Mrs. J. E. Fisher, Mrs. M. J.
Fisher, Mrs. W. E. Fisher, and Mrs. M. J. Fisher.

The funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. Fisher, Church street, Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. The interment will be made in the Evansville cemetery.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, April 16.—The first meeting of the new council was held last evening at the council chambers with Mayor Leach presiding. All the members of the council were present. There were but two changes in the new council from last year. R. E. Hopkins succeeds J. O. Arthur as alderman of the first ward and W. E. Atwell succeeds F. Kellogg as alderman of the second ward. The new council re-elected all of the present city officials and designated the Wisconsin Tuberculosis association as the official paper of the city. The committees appointed for the ensuing year are as follows: Finance, Wesendonk, Hopkins, and Sturke; Street and bridges, Dalmann,
Atwell, and Brown; Waterworks,

Whitewater News

Whitewater, April 16.—The Parent-Teacher association met at the high school Tuesday afternoon. The following officers were elected for next year: Mrs. Ralph Dixon, president; Mrs. Frank Williams, first vice-president; Miss Clara Christianson, second vice-president; and Miss Marion L. Howard, secretary. Rev. L. Howard spoke to the association on the Y. M. C. A. work, and defended the organization against the wave of criticism that at present seems going over the country.

Great care was taken in the selection of the workers," he said. "Out of 40,000 applicants, 10,000 were chosen. Among these, there were poor, although the majority did good work. The caution work was put on the Y. M. C. A. and at first there was a misunderstanding as to how it was to be financed; it being thought that the fund collected in the U. S. were for welfare work alone, and the caution service must pay for itself. This was corrected and prices lowered. The official report stated that immorality decreased 75 and one-third percent after the Y. M. C. A. work began. The workers were not always in a safe place, 100 'X' men were under fire at Argonne Forest. The good the association did will sometimes be recognized at full value."

Mrs. Charles Ankous and daughter, Marjorie, spent a few days in Milwaukee the first of the week. Mrs. Mary Dorr has returned from Broadhead, where she has been spending the winter. Her daughter, Mrs. James Runday accompanied her for a brief visit.

Raymond Johnson, who has been overseas for two years, and has been at Camp Grant since March, is now home. He was severely wounded and burned, and spent several months in the hospital.

Chicago Masons Are Entertained Here

The Western Star lodge, No. 14, entertained delegation from the Austin lodge, Chicago, at Masonic hall, last evening. Sixteen Chicago men, all in the railroad business, attended. They put on work in the third degree. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock to about 200 members of the Masonic orders.

Masonic Meeting: Janesville chapter No. 5, R. A. M., will meet Thursday evening. Work in M. M. M. degree.

CHEER THROUGH PLAY KEEPS CHILD HEALTHY, SAYS MISS ZILLMER

"Good cheer through play, health through exercise," is the slogan of Miss Zillmer, who spoke to the county training school here today. To bear out her words, Miss Zillmer played with the pupils for the purpose of demonstration, and left them a weary, but happy group.

"A child should be so full of life that he cannot help but burst out in play," said Miss Zillmer. "The joy that comes to the child through play is not sufficient reason for recreation; there is the deeper significance for the individual and the community. The child, at a critical moment between the two worlds, must be made a game will develop a sense of sportsmanship that cannot be stamped the later character of the man or woman."

"Team work of the organized games inculcates self-respect in the timid, and develops respect for others in the bully. It makes for that 'pull together' the necessary big things. The slow, dull child who reacts slowly to an external stimulus today, will soon grow alert and listen for the footsteps of the teacher."

"Because the child who stumbles and fumbles will after a week of play skip, dodge, and catch with some skill. The timid child, struggling to overcome a native backwardness, will soon forget himself in playing the game, and gradually develop self-confidence and self-respect. And paramount to all these reasons is the health of the child. Why does the child fumble and stumble? This, learn out of his seat, sit crooked and wiggle about? He is a spirited young animal and five minutes of noisy, absorbing play will give him a joy in his own and control over the effects of the undesirable effects of keeping him shut up. Why are the cities clamoring for playgrounds? Because they are an economy to the community. The playground is an economy to the community, for the playground of the youth is cheaper besides being more cheerful, than the institute for the disabled adult."

"As teachers you shall have a double duty. The child is sent to school ostensibly to have his mind trained. There is, however, little need of training the mind if the body is too frail to endure the stresses of life. It is not enough that you keep the pupil as well as he came to you. Your worth, your progress is measured by the improvement you accomplish."

LYDD-GEORGE SEES "MANY PERILS" STILL IN WAY OF PEACE

was tumbling into the dust. No body of men worked harder or in better harmony than the peace conference, he asserted, and he doubted whether any body of men ever worked under greater difficulties.

Wild Men Screaming.
"Stones were clattering on the roof and wild men were screaming through the keyhole while the enormous issues depended on them which required calm deliberation," the premier said.

Questions have cropped up at the peace conference which imperiled the peace of Europe, but the premier believed that the conference had surmounted those difficulties.

Availed Criticisms.
Early in his address the premier said his first impulse when he returned was to await the much advertised criticisms of him, but inquiries had shown that these were not forthcoming.

The premier said he should not have thought that facts would be regarded as the slightest basis for criticism, but he was fully aware that there was a great deal of impatience in the world, and he proposed to address himself to the real, sincere, honest impatience which was felt in all lands. The premier paid tribute to the labor leader, the labor leader, and those associated with him in the plan for international arrangements for labor.

"Then," he added, "there is the great organization, the great experiment upon which the whole peace of the world hangs the society of nations."

Delegates Justified.
With almost every nation in the world engaged in considering these problems, the premier said, the delegates were justified in taking some time for their work, as a blunder might precipitate a universal war which might be either a disaster or a relief. After his reference at this point to what he characterized as the time saving process of building up the league of nations, and his appeal for freedom for the point of view, he continued along this line to point to the dangers of not allowing the conference the calm deliberation they required.

"It is full of perils—perils for this country and for all lands—perils for the people of the world," he declared. He begged that the men who were doing their best should not be sent to do the work. The delegates were dealing with many nations, most of them with problems of their own, each with a different point of view, and it required all the tact, patience and skill that could be commanded to prevent the varying interests developing into conflicting interests.

The premier said he believed the conference had surmounted these difficulties, but it was not assembly task. Much as the British government deplores conditions in Russia, the premier continued, it is not its duty to commit England to on significant enterprise in order to improve conditions in Russia. He added:

"Russia is a country very easy to invade and very difficult to get out of."

There was no question, he continued, of recognizing Russia. It had never been proposed and had never been discussed.

Paris, April 16.—The Council of Four today discussed questions relative to Schleswig Holstein, Helgoland and the Adriatic. While the council was in session, the French government considered claims which have been made by Germany to holdings in the Antarctic ocean.

President Wilson finished the day by a series of calls at the American headquarters, visiting General Tasker H. Bliss and Col. House, among others, discussing with them phases of the situation in which they are particularly interested.

Must Press Criticisms.
Berlin, April 16.—Semi-official French announcements of the conditions to be laid down in the treaty of peace are denounced by the German press. Friedrich Lichowsky, in an article in the Tagblatt declares "France forgets that instead of leading to disarmament, an unjustly exported peace will bring forth a new war." He declared that the treaty would be a "mangled flat peace can be maintained only by the mailed fist."

President Wilson Praised.
Paris, April 16.—The time has come to destroy the legend tending to represent President Wilson as adopting regretfully such a solution," says the Paris Evening News in commenting on the statement of the president relative to the left bank of the Rhine by the Council of Four.

"There have been divergencies as to the principle and an agreement on the realization of that principle is bound to follow."

"Not the least interesting feature of the prolonged discussion was to see President Wilson apply himself personally to the task of solving the problem and still not injuring the rights of France. He uttered a phrase one day which France cannot forget. He declared with an accent coming from the heart: 'It would be the sorrow of my life if the great peace we are making should be jeopardized by any difficulty between France and America.'"

View on Russia.
"I would rather leave Russia bolshevik until they see their way out of it, than see Great Britain landed in bankruptcy," exclaimed the premier, who added that this would be the surest road to the spread of Bolshevism to England. "My earnest conviction is that military intervention in Russia would be an act of the greatest stupidity," he declared.

The premier said he might be asked why he supported Admiral Kolachek and Gen. Denikin. When the treaty of Brest-Litovsk was signed, the premier said, large parts of Russia had no hand in the shameful act and were in revolt against the government which signed it.

"The raised arms at our instigation and largely at our expense," he added, "but that was absolutely sound military policy, because without those organizations, the German would have secured all the resources which would have enabled them to break which signed it."

"Bolshevism continued the premier," had threatened to impose a force of arms, its domination over those populations which had revolted against it, and it would have been an act thoroughly unworthy of any great nation to say to those populations, 'We are exceedingly obliged to you; you have served your purpose and we need you no longer, and have left them to the Bolshevism. It is our duty, since we asked them to take this step, to promise them support. We are not sending troops because every Russian thought that if Russia were to be reduced, she must be redeemed by her own sons and they asked that they be supplied with necessary arms.'"

A substantial increase in the pay for teachers of the city schools, was voted at a meeting of the board of education at the high school last night, when the next year's salary budget was fixed.

J. T. Hooper was elected president of the board on motion of Francis Grant, retiring president. S. C. Burnett was re-elected clerk and trustee officer. The meeting was called for organization. No other business was transacted.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Fannie Curtis Hoadley
Janesville relatives received word Tuesday of the sudden death of Mrs. Fannie Curtis Hoadley, New York city. She leaves her husband, Joseph Hoadley, and two grandchildren. Mrs. Hoadley spent several of her girlhood years in this city. Her mother lived here for several years. She was a devoted wife and mother, and a kind and generous friend. She was born in New York city, July 8, 1838. A year later she came to Wisconsin with her parents, who located on a farm near Delavan. She was married to Joseph Hoadley in 1862. She died in New York city, April 15, 1919.

William T. Mayhew
The funeral services for William Thomas Mayhew, who died at his home, 325 Madison street, yesterday, will be held from the home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The body will be placed in the vault at Oak Hill cemetery. The family requests that flowers be omitted. Mrs. Mayhew was born in Portland, N. Y., July 8, 1838. A year later she came to Wisconsin with her parents, who located on a farm near Delavan. She was married to William T. Mayhew in 1862. She died in New York city, April 15, 1919.

Mr. Mayhew is survived by two children, Ada L. Janesville, and two grand-children, Martha and Guy Russell Stoller. Two children, J. S. and Guy L., are dead.

Evansville News

Evansville, April 16.—Farmers certainly are growing discouraged with weather conditions as they have been for the past two weeks. The warm weather of last month gave promise of an early spring and great was the activity on the part of the farmers to get their crops in. But April has proven as capricious as the name suggests. Such delay in getting oats in the ground means late corn planting. The ground is cold and fairly saturated with water. After the fine weather on Sunday last, Mr. Farmer had his hopes set high for good weather this week, but it was doomed to disappointment.

Smith-Graham.
Ray Smith of this city and Miss Ruth Graham, Broadhead, were married in Rockford, Monday, April 14, after a ceremony which was attended by many friends. They have returned to Evansville, where they will begin housekeeping in the near future. Mr. Smith is an Evansville young man.

Persons.
Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Carson and sons motored to Janesville, Sunday, and spent the day with friends. They returned to Evansville, where they will begin housekeeping in the near future. Mr. Carson is an Evansville young man.

Persons.
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Tolles, who have been spending the past three months in California, are expected to arrive home the latter part of this week.

Thirty or more friends invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Tolles, Thursday evening, informing them that they had come to help celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary. The guests came laden with well-filled lunch baskets and a beautiful cake. The evening's entertainment was given by the members of the Literary club and the Tourist club will hold a joint meeting in a purely social way at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Dager, Main street. The Tourist club will furnish the evening's entertainment, while the members of the Literary club will have charge of the refreshments.

The Reading circle of the Congregational church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blakely, Second street.

Dr. and Mrs. George Spencer will entertain the Good Times club at their home on Main street, Thursday evening.

Most Seriously Wounded Soldier Home On Leave

Lieut. L. J. Woodworth, considered by surgeons to be the most seriously wounded man in the American army to recover from wounds, arrived home last night on a brief leave from Fort Sheridan hospital. He expects to return the latter part of the week. He does not know when he will receive his discharge.

Lieut. Woodworth was wounded in the battle of the Argonne forest. A piece of shrapnel entered his head back of his right ear, pierced through his head and passed through his left eye, destroying the sight, and paralyzing half of his face.

He also received three other wounds, one in each thigh and one near his spine.

STRIMPLE STRIKES OIL IN OKLAHOMA

J. A. Strimple, local auto dealer, has struck oil on his land in northern Oklahoma, near Bartlesville and Tulsa. The well has exceeded the expectations of Mr. Strimple.

It is a 600-ft. well and is now producing 10 barrels a day. Mr. Strimple returned from an investigation of his holdings there last week. Shortly after his arrival he received a telegram from his manager there, telling of the success.

He said: "The oil stopped over when we were putting on the casing head. We pumped the water off in 24 hours and went to pumping oil at 3:20 p. m. and at 6 p. m. had 30 barrels with no signs of slackening. Friday is our lucky day, it seems."

So far as is known, Mr. Strimple is the only Janesville man to strike oil. He has been interested in the work for some time and has control of several thousand acres of land in northern Texas, in the Burkhart district, in addition to his Oklahoma holdings.

JUST FOLKS By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE NEW BROTHERHOOD.
We are sitting out the selfishness that marred our old life. From the tinier days where we labor we are thinning out the weeds. We are building for the future to a nobler, better plan. For the world has caught the vision of the brotherhood of man.

We have put the past behind us. As the sturdy pioneers Saw within the tangled forest all the glory of our trials calmly, for beyond them we can see The greater goals of freedom and the world that is to be.

These are days of self-denial, these are times for sacrifice. It is freedom we are gaining and each one must pay the price. We are drawing closer together with a common end in view: For the greater joys we dream of we've a common task to do.

MYERS THEATRE.

"Mary's Ankle" has provided fun for New Yorkers for so long that it comes to the Myers theatre, Friday evening, April 18, now with much pleasurable anticipation awaiting it. Built on a novel idea it expands into the acts of most enjoyable fun. The company includes such notable fun-makers as W. H. Lytell, Helen Spring, Dorathon Sadler, and others. The story may best be described as a complicated romance. The complications result from the sending of a fake wedding invitation by one of three penniless young men in order to extract wedding presents from close-fisted relations. The young lady, who has been made an unconscious partner in the design, eventually appears in the person of a bewitching young lady named Jane Smith. From this sketchy outline, which May Tully, the author, declares is based on fact, it is shown that she has evolved a sprightly and entertaining farce.

APOLLO

Chiefman's Daughter in Movies
Indian Squaw Has Dreams Come True in "Mickey."

The wonderful realism, thought and minute attention given to every detail in that remarkable production, "Mickey," featuring Mabel Normand, to be shown at the Apollo Theatre, all next week, is forcefully brought out by the advent—the "where, why and how"—of Minnie Ha Ha. Mickey's foster mother.

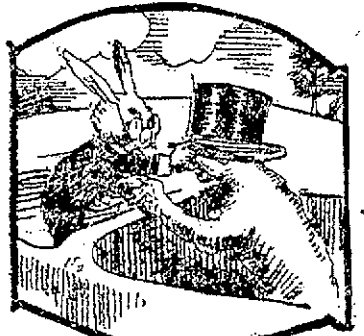

Strange and fascinating friendships are made on a motion picture lot, but probably few will be unearthed more interesting than that existing between Mabel Normand and the Indian woman, Minnie. Long ago Minnie slipped away from her Oklahoma tepee to see a picture show—and then sat up far into the night planning mischief to her adopted, later Minnie came to Los Angeles and went into pictures at the instigation of the Miller 101 Ranch people, and one day, on "location," came face to face with Miss Normand.

Long since they had exchanged photographs, Mabel in her most shimmering, summy dress, Minnie, in her brightest blanket and oldest corn cobb, recognition was instant, and for half an hour frantic directors stormed and stamped without avail.

Then Minnie, without letting anyone in on her secret, began a wonderful pair of moosekins for Mabel Normand. Many days, and nights she worked on them, and then one day a dream came true. Minnie got an offer to quit her job and join Mabel Normand's company to play Mabel's foster mother. Somehow she seemed always to have been that—the part for her. "Report at nine," the director bellowed, but Minnie was there at six. Among other things she brought the partly completed moosekins, and between scenes labored on them. When you see "Mickey," you will see the moosekins, too, for Miss Normand insisted on using them in all scenes where high heels or bare feet were not imperative.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

Well, the postman didn't forget to bring me a War Saving Stamp this morning, so I'll start right off and tell you what happened to Billy Bunny and Uncle Lucky after they left the Old Brier Patch, from which you re-remember in the last story they were just starting for a ride in the Lucky-mobile.

Well, they hadn't gone very far, just a little ways, when all of a sudden they heard a dreadful loud growl. "What's that?" asked Uncle Lucky, but he didn't stop the Lucky-mobile, although he looked all around him. And then that dreadful growl came even louder than before.

"Oh, dear," said Billy Bunny. "I think something terrible is going to happen." So he opened his mouth and took out his popgun, and just then a big panther stood up on his hind legs right in front of the Lucky-mobile.

"Fee, fie, fo, fum, I smell a little rabbit stew. You are my prey, and you can't run away. For I've covered the ground with glue."

And, sure enough, that wicked old panther had put glue all over the road and on the grass and a little bit on the trees. The Lucky-mobile stuck fast. And then, oh dear me, that panther gave another dreadful growl and sprang right onto the back seat. "Halt!" he said, "wasn't that a fine trick of mine?" and he sat down on the back seat and laughed till his sides ached. But the poor little rabbits didn't even sauté. No, streamer, they couldn't see anything funny at all.

Well, after wiping his eyes with his pocket handkerchief, for they were full of tears, you know, for when panthers laugh they cry, just like some people.

"Now, I'll count out which I'll eat first." So he began with Billy Bunny. "Encey, meency, miney, mo, Catch a rabbit by the toe; To be hollers, let him go, Encey, meency, miney, mo."

And then Billy Bunny began to holler and to cry, and of course the panther had to let him go. "Now, I won't count you out," said the wicked beast to poor Uncle Lucky. "I'll just eat you up without saying any thing. And then he took the old gentleman rabbit's stovepipe hat and put it on his own head. And that made Uncle Lucky so angry, because he thought an awful lot of that hat, that he tried to get it back. And he did, that he did, but he was pushed it down right over that wicked panther's eyes, and then of course he couldn't see anything but Uncle Lucky's initials on the hat band. And while he was squinting up his eyes, Billy Bunny tied a strong rope

THOMAS CALDWELL.
The following letter from Pvt. Thomas Caldwell, Co. L, 39th Infantry, A. E. F. was received by Mrs. William Caldwell, Evansville, Wis., March 22, 1919.

Dear Folks:
I just got your letter of Feb. 21, and a card of the 26th of Feb., also of 30th of Nov. I do not get all my mail. It goes some where else. I have been in Coblenz twice since I wrote before. It is some place. I am going to Southern France on a pass for 14 days seven days to stay after I get there.

One mark is ten cents or a half a Franc. I have French and German in silver, from five down to a half. That badge is off of a German soldier. I got it in Dead Man's Hill, Sat. 26. That is the day we had the big drive in the Argonne. That iron cross I just put on so you would get it, but kept the other until I got home. It has been a good winter here, not over four inches of snow, and not very cold.

TWO CHURCH LEAGUE
GAMES AT "Y" TONIGHT

The 220-yard potato race, the third event in the track meet, was run off in the employed boys' class at the "Y" last night. Mills, Gokey, McCluskey, Hager and Phelps, emerging winners. These men will meet in the finals Friday night to determine the two who will represent the class in the dual meet in this event. Mills will meet the winner of the Gokey-McCluskey match while Hager and Phelps will be pitted against each other.

In the meets last night running up to the semi-finals Mills beat J. Casey, Gokey beat Morse, McCluskey outran T. Smith, Hager defeated Yahn, and Phelps beat Doss. There were 20 entries.

Two church league basketball games are on the docket for this evening at the Y. M. C. A. The Presbyterian-Congregational game will start at 7:30, with the St. Mary's-St. Patrick's game set for 8:30. They are ordered to be ready to play promptly as the periods will be shortened if they are not there on time.

The Presbyterians are picked as winners, while the result of the two Catholic teams' game is in doubt. With Cassidy and Kober in suits, the St. Patrick's five looks like the better bet.

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

THE DESIGN CIRCLE.

Happy the man and the woman the current of whose united lives flows in a benign circle of love and work. The mutual love gives each the strength of two. With twice the strength, each finds work as easy and sweet as playing.

After her stormy and dangerous struggle in the whirlpool to which Janet had been drawn, Janet found herself by Walter's side again. But she had learned something in her struggle and could now keep up with Walter with a firmer, steadier, truer stroke.

Most women have to choose between wifehood and a career. Janet thought she could keep one by making wifehood a casual, after-work affair. She found she could not. But she would not surrender either. By thought, by her husband's co-operation and by good fortune she learned to combine the two.

Home building, Janet found, is an absorbing and heart-breaking work. Janet undertakes. Janet threw herself into the problems of home making with all her native intensity. There was not a detail in its many subdivisions that she did not thoroughly explore. She learned the art, the science, the chemistry, the economics and the hygiene of cooking. Well-nourished Janet found that her work was easier than ever before.

When she had written her first draft, Walter took her rough copy and showed her how to make each word do the work of two; how to make each sentence tell both cooking and life; how to put the salt of humor and the spice of observation into an article on cooking; or on making a modest budget do for on the relation of keeping servants with you by the exercise of sympathy and democracy. Janet's articles soon found their way into the magazines, and that gave Janet the economic independence which is both the foundation and the structure of a successful marriage. Janet, on the other hand, was as valuable a touchstone of what every woman feels and thinks and does as Walter. Janet, for instance, had a manuscript in one hand and a played fountain pen in the other. "I've put down for Louise," she would say, "See if it sounds like a real woman." Janet, her hands in her dough pan, would read the speech aloud, then look out of the window thoughtfully. "She wouldn't say," Janet might reply. "And instead of giving a reason, I think in that particular instance she would just point and put her arms around the man." Nine times out of ten Janet would accept the verdict. The tenth time he would stick to his version, and the debate would leave them breathless and a little ruffled; but not for more than it takes to shrug a shoulder and go back to one's work.

Walter was writing a play on order from London Row, a theatrical manager, who had money enough not to be afraid of his own passion for Janet. Janet would not let him abandon his art for the sake of the world. He hated plays that were ahead of the time in his small and artistically conceived theater, and made money like the more commercial managers in their big theaters. He had seen Walter's story, "The Silken Noose," and had asked Walter to make a play of it. "Whether it makes money or not will depend on which the average person prefers," Rowe told Walter. "Pastry or good, nourishing bread. If there is a taste among them for bread—you will hit it off with the play. Which it will choose, probably he knows better than I," he said, pointing to a little bronze idol on his desk.

But when after the curtain had fallen on the first act of the play on the night of its opening, and Janet and Walter and Rowe saw the little idol again in Rowe's office, it seemed to be grinning in impish malice at their downcast faces. (To be continued.)

ORIENTAL JEWELRY IS SEASON'S FAD

BY ELOISE.

Jewelry is everywhere in evidence this season. Rings, pins, necklaces, bracelets, jeweled belts and other novelties are gaining a popularity which they have not had for many seasons and especially were all such things popular during the war years. But now with a clear conscience the fashion world is adorning itself with all manners of bizarre and colorful jewelry.

Necklaces perhaps more than anything else are being worn everywhere. Perhaps they have come to fill the breach left by the collar banishment. At any rate they are very attractive and certainly do give a cheerful note to the dress of serge, satin or jersey. Mostly they are made of wood, sometimes being combined with a thing of one precious metal. An example of a gorgeous silken cord.

Earrings are another fad of the moment which has been adopted by the most sophisticated young persons. Very oriental-like are these with their three long pendants of green gold set in pearls.

Household Hints

MENU HINT.

Breakfast. Cereal and Cream. Muffins. Marmalade. Coffee. Luncheon. Creamed Spinach with Baked Eggs. Rhubarb Sauce. Cocoa. Fresh Rolls. Nut Loaf Cake. Dinner. Vegetable Soup. Swiss Steak. Celery. Baked Potatoes. Creamed Carrots. Rye Bread. Prune Salad. Maple Syrup with Tea Crackers. Coffee.

SPRING FOODS.

Prune Salad—Fifteen large steamed prunes (three slices of lemon that is cooked and sweetened with prunes), three tablespoons home-made mayonnaise (sweet), ten dates, five English walnuts, lettuce, cream, remove prunes, lay lettuce on salad plates. Hide prunes among lettuce. Cover with mayonnaise and garnish with the sweetened, cooked, lemon slices.

Vegetable Soup—Two potatoes, one yellow turnip (small), two carrots, two onions, one-half cup shredded or chopped cabbage, two-pound supbone. Season with salt and pepper. Wash small end of a torpedo and slushka, mar for two hours. Do not boil or hurry the cooking of the meat, or put salt in water, as best results cannot be secured if such is done. After two hours of simmering the meat is pretty tender. Put in vegetables, all of which are cubed small. Simmer from 30 to 40 minutes more, as long as vegetables required to be cooked thoroughly. Remove, serve very hot with toasted squares. Allow the meat to separate in soup if necessary. This gives excellent flavor, as the bone marrow is the main ingredient for well flavored soup.

Steamed Rhubarb Sauce—Peel one or two bunches (as required) fresh rhubarb. Cube it. Fill bottom of steam cooker half full of water. Steam rhubarb 20 to 30 minutes. Make a syrup of one cup water to one-half cup sugar. Put rhubarb in dish, put boiling syrup over; let stand in syrup until cold. Make as much syrup as desired.

FOR THE INVALID. How to Prepare the Broth—Here is one way: Have the soup cup very warm. Open a fresh white-shell egg very carefully and put in cup so egg will not break. Have two-thirds cup broth at the boiling point and pour it over the raw egg. Sprinkle with a little parsley or grated onion, cover cup and serve at once with a piece of dry buttered toast.

Concentrated Clews. For persons interested in the study of finger prints can be highly recommended any of the best circulating novels in the public library.—Buffalo Express.

SIDE TALKS

—By— RUTH CAMERON

BY RUTH CAMERON

A Contrast. Recently I had occasion to visit one of the finest and most luxurious hospitals in the country.

The lobby of this hospital is like the lobby of a beautiful hotel. Chinese rugs, shaded lights, an open fire, a library table pleasantly cluttered with books and magazines, deep cushioned arm chairs make a charming living-room of it.

Sicknesses de Luxe. The patients' rooms, except for the height of the beds and the perfectly bare floors, might be the rooms in some modern hotel. The furniture is painted in the faintest of colors, at the windows are well chosen crotonne hangings, the same crotonne is repeated in the shade of the little bed light and the cushions of the big arm chair which stands by the open fireplace or by the windows whose wide pane frames a picture of a sunny river.

On the floor on which I visited there were eight patients. The floor consisted of four nurses and a head nurse. Besides these, three of the eight patients maintained their own special nurse.

This, I said to myself, is surely sicknesses de Luxe.

All the misery of a battlefield. For certain reasons I was obliged to spend an hour in the lobby and to beguile the time I picked up one of the books from the table. It was a short tale of the war—I read it.

through. One chapter pictured a battle field after the battle had passed on. It vividly described the misery and wretchedness and agony and courage and patience of these wounded men. One sentence told how after passing through such scenes as these the men came to realize the "incidental" character of human life and suffering.

And here I sat in a costly monument to the exact opposite—the supreme value of human life, the supreme effort to cushion and lessen the slightest human suffering.

What a contrast.

A Contrast in Character. But in Circumstance. No, I am not going to say that it is wrong for us to do all we can to lessen the suffering of these we love. Hardly. Nor that there was an essential difference in character between those who lay in the soft white beds and those who lay on the battlefields. On the contrary, if the patients of the hospital had been on the field of battle I think the majority would have acted as those men did. And if the men who were soldiers had been instead pampered patients in a rich municipal hospital, the majority would probably have accepted the pampering and been ready for more.

And that's the marvelous thing about it all. We bear what we have to. We rise at the sound of our bell. We go to bed. We wonder Christ said what he did about the needle's eye.

Nikky was very happy. "I'll please her this once!" he cried to himself. Just then they came to a little hut. Throwing a bomb, Nikky was shot at Shushka. She turned up her nose.

Disappointed, he looked at the road. Ah! A schoolhouse! Just as they got to the door, Nikky grabbed up an armload of homies and threw them all right into the schoolroom. Ah! Surely that would please her, surely!

"Nikky! Our little Nikky and Spookbolski are in school! My God! Where the school was, nothing is."

JOHNSTON'S ALMOND SHORTS. All that the name implies, a short cookie filled with almonds. For sale at your grocers.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap.

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary unsifted coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses off easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multifid coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson. I am engaged to a young man whom I have known for over two years. He is twenty-five and I am nineteen. He is a very nice young man and his people go to church. He loves me very much and I do him also.

I work in a lunch room. Before I knew him I talked and cut-up with the men who came in there. He told me he did not think this was right and I quit it. But if some one speaks I speak back. He says he has reasons for teasing me of things of the past. I get up and get angry. He does not like me to do this, but I just can't help myself. I get used to think he was jealous, but I don't know. Do you think he is or not?

I was married once when I was very young. I realize now that I was not the right thing to do. Sometimes he thinks he sees me do things and he asks me about it. And I tell him the truth about it. Sometimes he thinks I'm lying to him and I have sometimes, but I think that now. What do you think about it?

WORRIED BLUE BELLE. It is human nature to be jealous. I think it would be more gentlemanly of the man, however, not to be so jealous of what you have done previously, and so he should never refer to subjects which are unpleasant to you. His teasing is not a sign that he is jealous of telling an untruth, do not argue. Your simple statement and silence will be more impressive than any number of words.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of fourteen and very much in love with a boy two years my senior. I have gone with him several times, but I don't think he cares for me. Please help me.

MISS WORRY. Most sixteen-year-old boys are not interested in girls. Forget about love and like the boy as a friend. You will be happier if you enjoy studies and forget about boys for a few years.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am troubled with dark, thick hair on my arms. What would you advise me to use to remove it? DANDELION.

Try bleaching the hair with peroxide of hydrogen, which will make it very much less noticeable. If, however, this is not satisfactory, try the pumice-stone treatment, which has proved very beneficial in many cases.

The ordinary cake of pumice-stone. This is not pumice soap, but the regular old-fashioned pumice-stone. To remove the hair, rub the skin affected with the superfluous growth, and the pumice-stone will wear the hair off. Be careful not to be too strenuous and irritate the skin. In case the arms are made red by this treatment, use a little cold cream.

The first method is better, I think, because it does not increase the growth of hair, while the second method does.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a young lady invites a young man to her home to make fudge, is it proper for the young man to furnish the ingredients? KANDY KID.

The girl should furnish the ingredients.

Baseball At Make-Or-Break Point

By George McManus.

LAST CHANCE FOR TEAM IS SQUARELY UP TO CITY NOW

(By K. L. EAGON)

As things stand now, there will be no baseball game next Sunday at the fair grounds between the Milwaukee All-Stars and the rejuvenated and re-modeled Janes.

During the last 24 hours, not a single contribution has been received toward the Janesville city team base-ball fund, and the uniforms, due tomorrow, may be held in pawn. There is still less than one hundred dollars in the till, and indications are black for the baseball future of the city.

No Helping Hand.

There has not been one single helping hand outstretched to the writer. He has not the time to go out and solicit the funds still needed to pay for the uniforms, arrange for the diamond detail for next Sunday's game and post a $500 guarantee for the Milwaukee club's expenses over here and back.

There fore, it behooves the writer to set Thursday midnight as a deadline. If the big concerns and business houses of the city, the lawyers, doctors, dentists and representatives Janesvillians, who have not been heard from, come to the rescue with their aid, there will be baseball next Sunday—real baseball—and there will be plenty of the greatest pastime all during the summer and fall. Otherwise, despite the fact that it will give the city of Janesville a big, black eye, the writer will be forced to telegraph Manager Gavin of the Milwaukee club canceling the game, if this can be done.

Lodges Should Aid.

If the big business men—especially those members of the Chamber of Commerce, Elks, Eagles, Moose and other lodges—would come to the front for baseball, not in an apathetic way, but in even a speculative spirit, a boosting spirit, for any amount—no matter how small—the day will be won.

A delegation of baseball players from various parts of Wisconsin descended upon the city late yesterday and ambushed the writer. Some of the boys were even willing to go out for practice yesterday afternoon, despite the fact that it had been drizzling constantly throughout the day and the fair grounds diamond was in a deplorable shape.

Catcher Shows Up.

One of the players who visited Janesville yesterday was Thomas Cronke, a catcher, and battery mate of Eldred, who performed here for the Janes last Sunday. Cronke has caught semi-pro ball for several years. He agreed to come down Sunday with Eldred, and will be seen in a Janes uniform if the game is not called off.

Daniels, the Montana backstop, also was in town yesterday. He just stopped off for a flying visit, however, and left before midnight for Montana, where he will have a regular job behind the bat with a team in Montana. He seemed to feel that Janesville would be a baseball boom town—after it got started.

Two More Show.

Two other ballplayers motored in to town during the evening. One was a Cuban named Ramirez, who says he is a relative of the amber-colored star artist who was given a try-out with the New York Giants in 1914 and later went to the Louisville (American Association) club and made good. Ramirez will be given a show-off at the first practice, which will be held at the fair grounds diamond tonight if the sun plays a return date before 3 p. m.

If it does not clear up before 3 p. m. this afternoon, practice again will be postponed until Thursday afternoon at 5:30. But if it does clear up—noon at 5:30. But if it does clear up—noon at 5:30. But if it does clear up—noon at 5:30.

Baseball Boom Grows. During the last three days—or since the Janes and the Blackhawks hooked up in their famous duel last Sunday—baseball sentiment has grown by leaps and bounds. Everywhere in the city, the game with Milwaukee next Sunday is the topic of discussion.

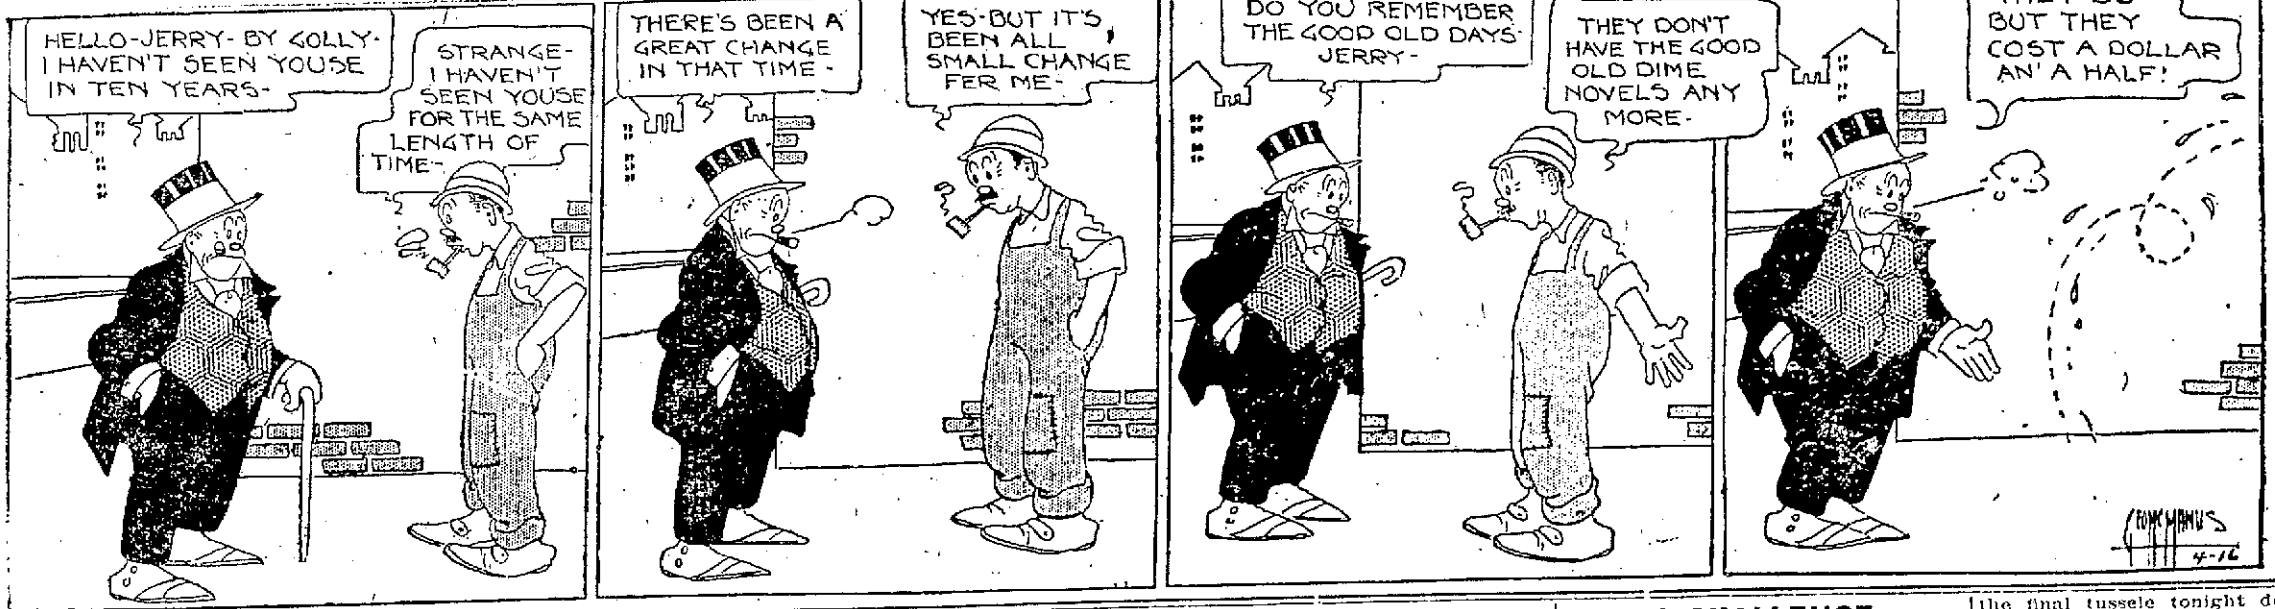

We can't afford to lose out now. Kick in, please!

Bout in the East. Pocahontas, Illinois, has telegraphed a representative of the Pocahontas Athletic club that he is "obliged" to hold the Willard Dempsey fight in the east, but that he will not decide the matter until May 1. Undated by this message, J. Robb Ready, now in Kansas City, telephoned that the executive committee of the club will leave here for New York April 24 to meet Rickard and attempt him to stage the fight here.

Coombs Faces Tough Year With Phils

By N. E. BROWN.

ONE of our big league managerial debutantes, Mr. Jack Coombs, if he leads the Phillies to a high place in the National league standing this season.

As his team stacks up now it is practically the same as the one which he led last winter—the same outfit which was a poor, second division team last season.

Coombs must depend upon his own ability as a manager and perhaps one or two youngsters that may help a little to give him and the fans a better team.

His pitching staff is weak. That's due to the loss of Cochrane, Prendergast, Jacobs, Packard and Hogg from his main pitching squad today. All fair hurlers, but not one of them a big winner. Eppa Rixey, star southpaw, may get out of the navy in time to join the team before the season has gone far. That will boost the hurling staff several points.

Jack Adams and Forest Cady are the receivers. Again we have good but not star players.

Douglas Baird, who went to the Phillies in exchange for Milton Stock in the Cardinal-Phillie deal last winter, will be the only new man in the team, will be at short and center at team, will be at short and center at second. Fred Luderus, if he doesn't change his mind again about playing, will be at first. No one can say whether Luderus will continue to hit at his best gut or not. He is getting old.

Out in the gardens Coombs will have to depend upon Cy Williams, George Whitted, Cravath and Mense. They can hit the pellet and, with the possible exception of Gavy, are good for the outfield.

As the team looks now the outfield is the strongest part of the Iron Man's club. The team boasts of only a fair combination in the other departments. In team work the club ranks only fair in fielding and hitting. The hitting comes in flashes.

SPORT SERIAL

(By K. L. EAGON)

The baseball outlook this morning was about as gloomy as the mist which enveloped the city. Players and fans were looking Heavenward and singing "Give me your smile, the sunshine of your smile," and baseball itself was casting appealing eyes toward the citizens who are under cover, and harmonizing in nineteen flats on "Pare, please."

Timmy Demetral yesterday telegraphed the writer to try and arrange a match here with The Masked Marvel. If there is some assurance that a real match would go over, we'll take another chance.

UNREACHABLE.

When Jules Verne wrote Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, he must have been thinking of how far it was to some Janesville citizens' pocketbooks.

Maybe we could get farther if we took up a collection for the poor, superannuated chorus girls.

Why is it that none of the song writers who write about the beautiful south have never been there?

WHY.

A—What is the best way to find a man out?

B—Go to his house when he's not at home.

A—No, go to his house with a baseball subscription list.

Some girls rely on perfume to win men. And some men depend on perfume to lose girls. It's a poor fluffer that doesn't kick back.

CLEAN THE CHEATERS. "Mary's Ankle" will be shown Friday night. Line forms to the right.

FAIR ENUFF.

Jack—I heard your wife eloped with a boarder.

Joe—No, it was only a rumor.

As a box fighter, Jessie Willard is very likely the best "23" player this side of the Rock River.

Think of the crowd that would turn out to see a game between the Janes and the Beloit Fairies—with Death Valley Jim Scott in the box and as probably a big leaguer equally as good for us—about next July 4? Why not?

YES, MA-AM

The writer was asked why he didn't try for a berth with the Janes. Say, we want to WIN these games.

There will be stiff practice at the fair grounds diamond, beginning promptly at 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Every regular player must be there.

SO LONG, FELLERS.

LOCAL CLUBS MUST PAY TAX ON DUES

Where the dues or membership fees to any social, athletic or sporting club or organization are in excess of $10 annually the revenue act of 1918 imposes a 10 per cent tax. Under the act of 1917 the 10 per cent tax was imposed where the dues were in excess of $12 per year.

Local organizations like the Lakota and Arcadia clubs which have hitherto escaped the tax are effected by the new act which took effect April 1. The tax is to be paid by the person paying such dues or fees.

WEST SIDE TEAM HITS 2,870 FOR EASY WIN

Hitting the pins for a total of 2,870, the West side bowling team walloped the East side five by a margin of 411 pins at the West side alleys last night. Six scores were over the 200 mark. Dalee was high with 268, while Trieloff contributed 236 as his score. In the first game, Mead of the losers shot 228, while Robbins knocked 224 bottles into the crib in two straight games. The scores:

Navy's Hopes Blasted.

Annapolis, Md.—The navy's hopes of success in the rowing regatta Saturday, when the navy first and eight will be pitted against the varsity and freshmen crews of Harvard and Princeton, were dealt a blow yesterday when several oarsmen were barred because they were found unsatisfactory in studies. Each crew's losses will be three or four men. The losses to the varsity will be particularly heavy, as Bill Ingram, the powerful stroke and Graves and Reggeller are barred. Several members of the [annual] squad also are affected.

Minnesota Boxing Doubtful.

St. Paul, April 15.—Passage of the Burrows boxing bill by the State Legislature, which must adjourn on April 24, was considered doubtful today. The bill would legalize boxing contests in cities, towns and villages with a population of 10,000. Boxing matches are at present limited to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth.

An attempt to have the bill disposed of today was defeated and legislators said it probably would need a suspension of the rules vote in the House for consideration before adjournment. Such action would require eighty-eight votes, which it is understood can hardly be mustered.

Maupome Leads Augie

Milwaukee.—Pierre Maupome increased his lead over Augie Kieckhefer in their three-cushion match here yesterday. Augie won the afternoon block, 52 to 50, in sixty-four innings and lost the night block, 50 to 26, in forty-two innings. Maupome had a high run of 7 in the afternoon and 8 at night. Augie had a high run of 3 in each session. The total count now is Maupome, 200; Kieckhefer, 153.

Davison Takes Not Title.

London.—The covered courts tennis championship was won yesterday by P. M. Davison, the son-in-law of the singles, in the championship tournament in progress at the Queen's Club. Davison defeated Bert Ritchie, the holder of the title, by 6-2, 6-3, 8-6.

Coach Stagg of Chicago has notified the Drake authorities that it would be impossible for him to officiate. Hamilton immediately was wired and if he cannot act Jones will be called upon.

CARDS CHALLENGE OWL-RAYL BATTLE WINNER FOR GAME

Janesville basketball fans may see another big game this season if plans of the Cardinal managers carry. Joseph Donning today went to Chicago to challenge the winner of the Detroit Rayls-Whiting Owls game which is to be played at Bartlett, University of Chicago, this tonight. Either team has won a game and the final tussle tonight decides the winner of the series. During the morning a number of local basketball fans were organizing to leave this afternoon for Chicago to see the game.

Backers of the Cardinals got together yesterday and guaranteed a big sum to have the Rayl-Owl game winner meet the Cardinals. Manager Denning will suggest the college gymnasium at Beloit as the scene for the battle and some time next week as the date.

Tonight the teams will fight for $2,500 side bet.

MAGEE WRITES OF INDEPENDENCE MOVE IN THE PHILIPPINES

Side lights on the Philippine independence move are told in a letter received by H. H. Bliss from George L. Magee, associate editor of the Manila Daily Bulletin and formerly on the editorial staff of the Gazette.

The letter reads as follows: "Manila, P. I., March 10.—It looks as though I would be in the Philippines during a very interesting period—namely, when they are given their independence. Their hat is in the ring strong and they have named an independent commission with instructions to keep on the job until their aim is accomplished. The Harrison administration has been lining up the situation for some years for independence and is beginning to look like a sure thing. A mission of about 30 leading Filipinos is now on the way to Washington to do some questioning."

Mr. Quezon, the big chief of the Filipino politicians, has been in Washington for several months and is supposed to have sounded on President Wilson during his recent visit. He is generally considered to be a peace conference. Gov. Harrison has also been in the United States for some time, and whatever he has to say will doubtless carry weight. The Filipinos are a show-down, they are likely to get what they ask for all in a lump, according to the way it looks from this side. Of course, the independence congress which will have to act on the proposition, which may mean a certain amount of delay in the actual turning over of complete independence.

Organized Opposition.—The fact remains that there is no organized opposition to independence in the Philippines. Americans here, even those with large investments, are generally indifferent, whether it is because they think the independence campaign will prove an air bubble or whether they feel that it will really mean a change to their way of life. It is hard to say. I presume their attitude is that the United States will take care that they are protected whatever happens, and if it is fair to suppose that the Philippines will be naturally friendly toward Americans and the United States in view of the extensive trade relations which have grown up during the 20 years of American occupation.

The whole independence question has been in politics here and in the United States. In the Philippines, it has been the big issue between the two parties, the issue being how soon independence should be granted. One party wanted it immediately if not soon, while the other, the party in power, counselled delay and economic development until such a time as the Filipinos are ready for independence.

Two Parties Agreed.—The time has come when, in my opinion, the two parties are quite agreed on the matter at present. In the U. S. the Philippine question has been lost sight of largely as an issue in politics, since there has been no change of administration. The attention of political leaders, but as it may be revived shortly, there can be no great division on the proposition. In view of the fact that the Filipinos in their cause and in view of the promises which have been made on many occasions by the American government.

"Philippines and the question, are the Philippines actually ready for an independent existence?" emphatically in the affirmative. They point out that they have practically taken over the government of the Philippines and they are fully capable of handling the government.

Pass Economic Measures.—The last legislature, composed entirely of Filipinos, has passed a number of important economic measures which are calculated to pave the way for an extensive growth under government supervision. The National Development company, the National sugar company and the National Cement company have been authorized, corporations which will be largely directed by the government, which will hold controlling stock. The National sugar company is already in operation and the Manila railroad system on the island of Luzon is a government institution.

"The aim is to secure development of the islands' resources by means of and for Filipinos. The independence of the Philippines is not a goal to be excluded, but it is recognized that it will be a sounder policy if Filipinos do the greater part of their own business, at least a larger part than has been done in the past. This is a plain, paternalistic legislation, but the Philippines are not the only country with such tendencies and it may be the wisest thing for them."

Question Up to U. S.—"Americans, when asked about independence, with a few exceptions, and perhaps point some of the most glaring deficiencies of the Filipinos in their attempts to handle their own affairs as they have lately been entrusted to them. Some will say that the islands might just as well be independent as to be in their present situation. Only a few will say that they will go to the 'demolition bow-wow' when it comes to independence. I myself to this, 'Uncle Sam in justice deny the Philippines what they are asking for when that thing has been held up to them as a promise ever since he was elected and took the islands from Spain in '98.'"

EMERALD GROVE

Emerald Grove, April 14.—Mrs. Alice Scott Inman has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Flaytor, also her brother, Charles Flaytor, and family. All who are to take part in the Easter program are requested to be present at the church for rehearsal Saturday at 2 p. m.
